Damper Covers, Ductor Covers and Felts

Damper covers are used on offset presses with conventional dampening systems for transferring water onto the image plate.

The Ductor cover fits onto the form or water roller and is used to convey water from the fountain into the machine.

Felts are also used to convey water in the machine but are used on small machines.

To see the range of these items please see the product list below and contact our friendly sales staff for the most current pricing. Many of these items are held in stock for quick delivery.
